Topic overview: In this topic, we will be learning about ourselves, thinking about our roles at school, at home and in the wider community. We will centre our discussions around 'Wonder' – thinking about the impact of Auggie's condition from different perspectives and understanding the positive and negative reactions to him. We will explore our own feelings of being 'included' or 'on the outside' and think about how our actions and words can have an impact on others.	Topic Overview: This topic will centre around the events leading up to the first world war, the war itself and the path to peace and resolution. As well as our core text we will study propaganda as a tool for recruitment and explore first world war poetry to illustrate changing attitudes towards the war. We will look at the impact of war on Thame by studying the number of leaving and returning soldiers and the importance of remembrance in the lead up to 11 th November.	Topic Overview: In this topic we will look at Nelson Mandela as an influential figure with a dream. Through the story we will look at the realities of apartheid and what this meant for people in South Africa and its impact on the world. We will also study extracts from 'Long Walk to Freedom' to unpick the chronology of Mandela's fight and to consider our own endeavours and the goals we need to achieve to get there.	Topic Overview: This topic explores the journey of a young boy with a heart condition who is part of a ground-breaking procedure to save his life. Within this topic, we will look at the ethics around new medical procedures and animal experimentation, as well as the complexities of relationships as emotions run high. We will look at the circulatory and respiratory systems in the human body and explore the impact that drugs, smoking and alcohol can have on it.	Topic Overview: This topic will look at the complexities of relationships between cultures, peers, teacher & peers, parents & children. Themes such as power/abuse of power, violence and hatred, love, loss, prejudice, and free choice will be explored and pupils will write from the perspectives of different characters and viewpoints as they try to unpick and empathise with their actions.	Topic Overview: Throughout this topic, we will be exploring themes of change, difference and acceptance, relating it to our own transition to Secondary. We will be looking at behaviours of characters and relating it to our own fears and insecurities, and how we develop our growth mindset as we move towards new challenges.
